

liz truss, the new prime minister of the united kingdom, is preparing to commit up to £150 billion ($172 billion) to shield households and businesses from rising energy bills